2007 Chehalem Ian's Reserve Chardonnay North Valley, Oregon: $33. One other white, the 2007 Chardonnay Ian's Reserve Stoller Vineyard merits attention. Medium straw-colored, it has an excellent bouquet of smoke, mineral, apple, pear, and a hint of tropical aromas. Creamy-textured, ripe, and vibrant, this nicely balanced, potentially complex Chardonnay will evolve for 2-3 years and drink well through 2015, at the least. 91 Points Robert Parker

2007 Fattoria Felsina Toscano Bianco "I Sistri" Italy $24.50. Offers ripe apple, with spicy, creamy notes on the nose. Full-bodied, with a gentle, silky texture and subtle fruit and spice, showing white pepper and apple pie flavors. Very stylish. Drink now. JS Wine Spectator 90 Points Wine

2006 Cape Mentelle Chardonnay Margaret River Australia $24. Classically styled aromas of butter, oatmeal, cedar and citrus fruits. Crisp acidity is in harmony with the medium+ body of generous lemon pie and cream flavors. Silky texture, long, layered finish. Drink now to 2014. 92 Robert Parker

2007 Ken Wright Celilo Vineyard, Columbia River Gorge WA. $27.

Yellow-gold. Ripe peach, honeydew and butter aromas are complicated by notes of musky herbs and dried rose. A spicy, gently sweet midweight, offering juicy orchard fruit and melon flavors and a hint of baking spices. The spiciness echoes through a long, subtly sweet finish. This could handle richer poultry or fish preparations. 88 points Stephen Tanzer

2007 Patz & Hall Hyde Vineyard Chardonnay Napa Valley, CA. $57.50

More orange marmalade, pineapple, honeysuckle, and candied fruit aromas jump from the glass of the deep, full-bodied, elegant, mineral-laced 2007 Chardonnay Hyde Vineyard. The wood is pushed well to the background in this layered, well-textured offering. It should drink well for 5-6 years. 94 Robert Parker For the past twenty years, Patz and Hall has been one of California's finest negociant firms, accessing top quality fruit and vinifying and bottling their wines with minimal intervention. The following efforts represent the finest wines I have tasted from them in many years.

Super Pour $7. (Optional)

2007 Domaine de Cherisey Puligny-Montrachet „Hameau de Blagny% Premier Cru France $86

It isn't very often that we find a new producer of white Burgundy, making wines as good as the best names in the Côte de Beaune. His name flies completely under the radar and his modesty of demeanor and price leaves you gasping for comprehension when you taste the brilliance of his wines. Laurent Martelet of Domaine de Cherisey is just that man, and we're here to tell you that there is no better investment in white Burgundy than getting your hands on some of his 2007s that are among the best of the Côte. Hopefully you have experienced his 04, 05 and 06s so you are somewhat prepared for the fireworks that these wines deliver. These will be very long-lived gems, so stock up while they are still affordable! Kermit Lynch
