

Don't miss this!

Wednesday, September 23rd join us at the Mini Three Wine Tasting we will be pouring the following wines from Ken Wright Cellars of Carlton, Oregon

- Time: 4:00-7 PM
- Cost: Only $10. WOW, what a great deal! Bring all your friends!
- Here are the wines:

2007 Ken Wright Cellars Pinot Blanc $23.00

Pinot Blanc is a lighter-colored natural mutation of Pinot Gris. Our source for this fruit is a one acre block of Freedom Hill Vineyard. After pressing the juice, it is fermented in one year old French barrels. The new wine remains in barrel with the original yeast and is not racked until bottling. The wine has a floral/mineral focus. 200 cases are produced.

2007 Ken Wright Cellars Celilo Vineyard Chardonnay $27.

This is a unique vineyard situated on a 1,000' bluff overlooking the Columbia River in the Columbia River Gorge. It lies on the south face of Mount Underwood, which is currently an inactive volcano. The soil is pulverized basalt, extremely porous and loose, which promotes deep rooting. The vineyard was planted in 1983. Unlike the Chardonnay grown in the hot eastern desert of Washington, this is a much cooler site. As a result, the fruit retains more acidity and the wine displays a clean mineral character with an expansive texture. 385 cases produced. Carabella Vineyard Chardonnay

Carabella Vineyard is located in eastern Yamhill County in an area known as Ladd Hill. All of the fruit in this bottling is derived from the Dijon 76 clone on 3309 rootstock. The soil type is volcanic in origin and named Nekia. Elevation is 450' to 600'. The wine is rich and emollient. 320 cases are produced.

2006 Ken Wright Carter Vineyard Pinot Noir $64.50

The 2006 Pinot Noir Carter is medium/dark ruby with an alluring bouquet of violets, earth notes, cherry, and raspberry. On the palate it has superb depth of flavor, lots of spice, succulent fruit, and a persistent finish. It should be at its best from 2010 to 2018. 93 Point Robert Parker

Ken Wright Cellars remains a benchmark for Oregon Pinot Noir. Wright's portfolio of 2006s is outstanding across the board. As has become customary, Ken Wright has pulled off a tour de force in farming and winemaking.

Hope to see you here!
